Gross national income is the total value of goods and services within a country, including income and payments.